

I still do love you

Spreadin' by Servin'Spirit

Sensing what is going on on this ball of green.
My heart feels a yearning
to bring my voice in.

If I was given to tell you,
just how lovely you are.
It might make a difference?
It might end some war?

It's already been said,
I say it once more:
All of you is loved,
Right down to your core.

So please hear the message,
Please open your heart.
No matter what holds you,
It's time for a new start.

And if you can't make it.
Feel like if it's the end.
Please keep on hoping,
There will come a friend.

You might do not trust me,
it still stays so true:
No matter how frightened,
I still do love you.
