

The Rainbow

Spreadin' by Servin'Spirit

Some's going on, smooth though still strong.
Huge rolling wave bursting into your cave.

Tears you outside, into the night.
You float in the sea, you float feeling free.

You look in the sky, stars shining bright.
Open your gaze, now you see there's a way.

Way from beyond, there's a rainbow at once.
So you dare to climb, up into the bright sky.

It is so steep, you have to creep.
But then you are there, in the garden aware.

Aware of the light, aware of the sight.
So much beauty you see, so much love feeling peace.

Then it is time, you have to slide.
Back in the night. But in your heart you keep the light.
